The area ward administrator gave an introduction of the planning team which comprised of officials from the National Government, County Government and the National Land Commission.

The Nyandarua County Coordinator of the National Land Commission highlighted the monitoring and oversight role of the Commission and mentioned that they were engaged in stream lining Land Use Planning in Ol'Kalou town.

The Sub County administrator introduced the taskforce team and gave a brief overview of their responsibilities. He mentioned that the report provided a summary on allocated plots in Ol'Kalou including plots with and without dispute, and all public land in the area. One of the recommendations made by the taskforce report was to prepare a Plan for the town in order to promote growth and investment. The report had been submitted to the County Governor upon completion for further action.

The Municipal Manager explained to the audience the purpose of undertaking planning for the town, and mentioned that there were plans to initiate planning of the entire municipality.

John Maina, a representative of the Ol'Kalou Business Community emphasized that the revision of the town Development Plan would transform it into a commercial hub and facilitate titling. He identified sanitation as a planning issue and the need to develop socio-economic infrastructure for future investment.

Planner. Kenneth Nyatuongi represented the National Government planning team by providing a summary of the assignment noting that the Plan preparation necessitated collaboration between the two levels of Government, as provided by the Physical and Land Use Planning Act.

The Gachagua location chief, Zachary Chege assured the Planning Team of cooperation and requested the residents to actively participate as the Plan would benefit them.

The Chief Officer, Lands, Housing and Physical Planning introduced the County Planning team and gave remarks citing that there was need to revise the approved Development Plan of 1997 as it was no longer effective. She informed the audience that the 400 disputed plots in the town could not be addressed without updating the Plan. Additionally, the Chief Officer informed the addressees of the Nyandarua Titling and Land Program, a joint initiative with the National Land Commission which spearheaded the preparation of a County Spatial Plan, revision of the Ol'Kalou Development Plan and titling.
